On the afternoon of May 15, 2013, 10 year old Toni-Ann Miller was on her way home from school with her friends in the community of Mount Hermon, St Catherine, when they came upon a house emitting thick black smoke from the windows. They heard a child crying inside and without hesitation, Toni-Ann ran inside the burning building, pulled the young child to safety but soon realised that his younger brother was still inside the house.

Without giving a thought to her own safety, she returned into the house, found the little boy lying on the bed which was partially ablaze and quickly took him outside. With Toni-Ann's quick thinking and act of Heroism, the older of the two brothers (age 6) escaped unhurt; however the younger brother (age 5) sustained minor burns to one of his arms.
